Robinson, Summerhays Win Student Elections

Dick Robinson and Joyce Summerhays were elected yesterday to the offices of summer school studentbody president and 1st vice president, respectively. Drew Crowley and Muriel Martel were unopposed for the positions of 2nd vice president and secretary. The business manager for summer school has not yet been selected. This office will be filled early next week, according to an announcement from the coordinator's office.

Richard Robinson is a junior hailing from Taylorsville, and majoring in music education. He fulfilled a mission to the Eastern States and took part in the Palmyra Pageant. Since coming to BYU, he has been active in Student Program Bureau work, and the Madrigal Singers, as well as being director of the Delta Phi chorus.

Joyce Summerhays is a junior from Pasadena, Calif., and is majoring in education. She has served this past year as dance director for Campus Branch MIA, and was on the studentbody assembly committee. A member of Senior Church, a student council group, she has appeared on various assemblies and programs. She is affiliated with Aloyce social unit.

Get Acquainted Dance Slated for Friday Night

A get-acquainted, "Hello" dance is being sponsored by the student body for all summer quarter students, tomorrow, at 9:15 p.m. in the Smith ballroom. Both admission and refreshments are free. Music will be by Bob Evans' band.

First quarter freshman students are especially invited, to meet fellow students.

Work to Begin On Building In Near Future

Work on the new Student Health Center, the latest building to be approved in the University's $10 million dollar campus expansion program, will begin in the near future, it was announced by BYU officials. Completion is expected during the 1964-65 school year.

The new building will be located on the upper part of Campus hill, just south of Knight-Mangum Hall. The main entrance, which will be on the second floor, will face north.

Measuring 254 feet by 32 feet, the building will contain 8,000 square feet of floor space on each of its two floors. In keeping with the style of other recent campus additions, the Student Health Center will be constructed of blond brick and pressed white stone.

In addition to housing the medical clinic, which administers to the health needs of the student body, the building will temporarily accommodate the offices, library, and supply rooms of the Air Force ROTC detachment.

Universe Staff Meeting Will Be Held Today

All summer quarter students, especially first quarter freshmen, who have an interest in writing and working on a newspaper, are invited to attend a meeting of the summer Universe staff, which will be held today at 4 p.m. in room 144 of the Clark Students Service Center.

Those who are unable to be at the meeting may contact De Green or Dick Scholte at the Uni-

Drew Crowley, a junior pre-med student who calls Glendale, Calif. home, has been active in Campus Branch activities this year, holding the position of ward teaching supervisor. He was appointed to the position of dance committee chairman in the studentbody president's cabinet for the school year starting in September. He has also served on the dance committee during the past year.

Muriel Martel, a sophomore, comes from Pleasant Grove. She has been active in music activities in high school and college, being a member of the Varsity Band during the past year. A Nursing major, she is affiliated with Sigma Nu Omega, honorary nurses organization, with Val Norn social unit, and with the University Music Club. At home in Pleasant Grove, she acts as ward secretary.

Numbers Planned For Rendition Of Music Festival

Five presentations of the Sixteenth Annual Music Festival, Drama, and Lecture series are planned for the next week in the Joseph Smith auditorium.

Two musical artists of the Brigham Young University faculty will appear in concert with the Paganini Quartet, who will be in residence during the Summer Music Festival.

Performers are Harold Laycock, viola, who will appear in a concert with the Paganini Quartet, Tuesday, June 22, at 9:45 a.m., and will play excerpts from the Mozart Violin Quintet, and Blaine Edlison, oboe, is scheduled for Wednesday, June 23, at 8:15 p.m. and will perform the

Nalder's 'Time of Harvest' Will Be Presented Monday

History of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will come to life in the Brigham Young University campus Monday when the department of speech and dramatic arts presents Martin Nalder's drama, "The Time of Harvest."

The play, covering events in the last six months of the life of the Prophet Joseph Smith, is set for presentation at 8:15 p.m. Monday in the Smith auditorium.

Registration Total Nears 1600 Pupils

Enrollment figures for the first session of summer school has reached a total of 1590 students. It was recently announced by the president's office. The final tabulation is expected to exceed 1600.

This total is a 41 per cent increase over the enrollment figure of 1130 at this time last year. Additional students who enroll for the second session will be included in the total.

The increase may be due in part to the accelerated summer school advertising campaign started on by the Public Relations office this year.

Another factor is the revived summer school instruction program for seminary teachers. This program brings nearly 200 more students to summer school.

as one of the events of Leadership Week. Admission is free to Leadership Week visitors and students. Public admission is $1.

Chambers Has Lead
Robert Chambers will be seen in the role of Joseph Smith, with Hecoye Hanson appearing as his wife, Emma. The Prophet's mother, Louisa Mack Smith, will be played by Merle Schreiner, and his brother, Hyrum, by Andy Mostert.

Hyrum's daughter, Lovina, is played by Barbara Luke, and the role of John Taylor is portrayed by Keith Martin. Gaylon Rowan plays the Prophet's zion, Porter Rockwell, and William Law and Joseph Jackson, leaders of the mob, will be played by Garth Seigmiller and Jerral Boyer.

Other Cast Members
Clyde Ricks has been given the role of Lorin Walker, another friend of the Prophet, and Weston Kilgus, and Donald Watts, Jr., will be seen as Denison Harris and Robert Scott, the two teenage boys who try to prevent mob action against the Prophet.

The play is based on historical fact and covers such events as the apostasy of William Law from the Church, the Prophet's attempt to escape his persecutors one last time, and his and Hyrum's martyrdom on June 27, 1844, in Carthage Jail.

Leadership Week Gets Underway

With an expected enrollment of nearly 4,000 persons, Leadership Week will get underway Monday at Brigham Young University.

Under the direction of Dr. Lynn M. Hilton of the extension division, courses on everything from genealogy to basketball coaching will be held during the five-day period.

All participants must register, although there is no registration fee, Dr. Hilton said. Louise Meyers and Carol Colver will register the participants in the Smith lobby starting Monday at 7 a.m. Sunday, registration and information booths will be set up in the Smith lobby, Eyring Science Center, and Clark Service Center at 2 p.m.

Registration
Registrants will receive a "name card" when they register. Dr. Hilton said that all week participants must have a name card.

New Mark For Grading Developed For These

A new mark, "T," has been established to designate at thesis in progress but not completed, according to University Administration officials. This mark will replace the term "incomplete," which has caused confusion in the past.

The letter "T" will not be counted towards grade point averages for the quarter, but will indicate satisfactory progress in that given quarter. The official mark of "A," "B," etc., will be

Brigham Young University

POLICIES LISTED

In this, the first issue of the University during the summer quarter with new editors assuming duties we would like to list our responsibilities and policies.

Our primary responsibility is to inform the studentbody, administration and faculty of all university activities which happen either on or off campus and which are of a general interest to all three groups. These activities include events and plans of students, faculty and administration groups and committees.

Our second responsibility is to be a medium which aids in maintaining a liaison between all groups, departments and committees on campus, the more efficient will be the activities of everyone concerned.

Another responsibility is to uphold the high standards of Brigham Young University, which have been established by the Board of Trustees and the administration. These standards include all policies of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Our policies are too numerous and detailed to be listed here, but one which is of general concern to all is deadlines. In order for any newspaper to operate smoothly, it must keep all deadlines. We expect to be no different. The deadline for all stories to be turned in is Tuesday noon of the week of publication. All pictures will be taken on Tuesdays prior to publication.

All Letters to the Editor must be signed and contain not more than 200 words. Any letter which is not signed will not be run, and letters which are over the limit will be cut.

WELCOME FRESHMEN

For the freshman who is new to Brigham Young University and this is his first quarter, pose the congratulations of the University for attending one of the fastest growing universities in the west.

But to become a real integral part of BYU there are certain traditions and standards that must be upheld. As advice, in an attempt to disseminate useful knowledge, it is recommended that the "Fresh" student participate in the activities that he enjoys and activities that at the same time are educational.

Sometimes it is difficult to restrain oneself from taking part in activities that tend to absorb time that should be used for studies. However, if wise counsel is sought from students, teachers, and other reliable sources, the student can prepare a suitable curriculum that will afford him the best use of time and money, as well as prepare him for a life vocation whether he be the wage earner or housewife.

Results Ready On Survey Of Food Costs

by Colleen Young

Brigham Young University's Marketing 174 class participated in a survey which is of interest to the entire nation. The results are now available.

Since this University has representation from all sections and significant cities in the United States, some students undertook the responsibility to conduct a survey to obtain data to determine the comparative cost of food between different sections of the nation.

Survey at Home

After two or three training sessions conducted by upper division class members, students from various cities were assigned to survey stores in their home states and cities during a specified two-day period. Thus the survey was possible with no travel expense and with each student working in an area that was familiar to him.

Representative food items were chosen, and significant facts revealed. It was found that there was very little variation in prices between the various sections of the United States. The lowest prices for any region are in the Mountain West and the Plain States. The highest prices were recorded in the midwest region. However, the difference between the highest price in the region of the Great Lakes and the lowest in the Mountain West was only $27.

East and West

Average price for stores on the East Coast was $31.59, and on the West Coast $31.69. The high prices on the West Coast were primarily due to the high price of the 15 meat items which average $1.72 in the West Coast cities, and $1.48 in those on the East Coast. The lowest meat prices were in the Plain States where the 15 meat items surveyed were priced at $10.67.

Rank of Cities

In the case of the cities surveyed they ranked: Providence, R. I. lowest; Chicago second; Wichita third; and Salt Lake City fourth. Other cities were ranked in this order: Columbus, Miss.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Houston, Texas; Boise, Idaho; St. Louis, Mo.; San Diego, Calif. Other major cities were all higher than these. The price for 78 items in Alaska was $45.96 as compared to $31.59 on the East Coast.

Chairman of the survey was Richard Rex, and chairman of the questionnaire was Boyd Blakem. Gene Kuntz took care of the organization of students and Gene Dalton was in charge of the sample.

Stop & Go...

Political Plights by Sterling Loveland

One of television's greatest attractions, the McCarthy-Army hearings, comes to a close this week with the public right back where the debate started. No one knows anyone about who is right and who is wrong than when the controversy came to light.

The only persons who have gained anything from the television hearings are the Democrats and a couple of recording companies.

As a result of the hearings, the Republicans have practically assured the Democrats control of both the House and Senate during the coming Congressional elections.

A la Pogo

Stan Friedberg, who gained fame as a mocker of "singer" Johnny Ray, recorded his version of the hearings. The record, like the actual hearings, runs something like a conversation from the Pogo Possum comic strip.

Despite all the double talk, some highly interesting facts were foisted upon the public. As a result, the hearings reached a new low when McCarthy "ruined a promising young lawyer's career" by revealing that he belonged to a lawyer's organization suspected of being "subversive."

New High

The hearing then reached a new high in dramatics when Army counsel Joseph Welch, with tears flooding his eyes, pleaded for the boy's career. Then at the right moment Welch's voice broke out and came everybody's handkerchief, except McCarthy's. After the voice breaking technique Welch went into the familiar "Walt McCarthy" act.

Following the cheapian performance everyone advised Welch to get out of the law rack and head for Hollywood where he could win Oscars hand over fist.

McCarthy's side, seeing the value of his cheap act, had no there, put on their own one-act play, with Roy Mac. Carrying the leading role.

Fly Hamlet

Cohn, McCarthy's chief counsel, put on a performance that would do justice to Hamlet. He said of his client, "I have never known a man with less unkindness... with less lack of charity in his soul."

The hearings were stamped with the flood of talent shouts who rushed to sign Cohn to a contract.

After these heart rendering speeches by Welch and Cohn, Republican Sen. Ralph E. Flanders blew his nose, wiped away the tears and demanded McCarthy's resignation as key committee chairmanship.

Immediately some TV viewers (a Democrat no doubt) telephoned and told Flanders he would "be taken care of" if he threatens "Wisconsin Joy" again.

The Town Cry

Meanwhile a group of Wisconsin citizens shouted "Joe Must Go" and McCarthy was advised to join the Theater Guild along with Welch and Cohn so he could dramatize his plight to his angry constituents. However, monotone "Joe" demurred from joining the Guild.

Finally, acting chairman Senator Eastland called the hearings to order and instructed both sides to wind the sessions up. This they will end this week.

True value of the hearing will not be realized until ten or 20 years from now when they will be shown to the world as the most ridiculous politicians can really be.

Seminary Teachers Enroll For Classes

One hundred ninety-seven seminary teachers are now enrolled in a summer school program for advanced theological training, according to information received from the office of William E. Berrett, vice-president of religious education.

The newly reconstituted program was formerly a yearly function, but was discontinued during the depression and war years. Its purpose is to unify teaching methods throughout the seminary system.

Advanced Theology, a course taught by Harold B. Lee, member of the Quorum of the Twelve, and Problems of Teaching Religion, instructed by Pres. Berrett, are required courses for the seminary teachers.

Other General Authorities will lecture to the classes during the summer quarter.

Tests To Be Given During June 24, 25

General Educational Development tests will be administered June 24 and 25, under the direction of the Brigham Young University testing division, according to Vern Jensen, director.

An agency of the Veterans' testing service is maintained for the purpose of administering these tests. Unmatriculated students 21 years of age or over, and all veterans are permitted to register as regular students after successfully completing the GED tests.

A high school diploma or an equivalency certificate is given provided the high school where the individual has applied is a participant in the GED program. Applications may be obtained from the testing division. The examination will be offered June 24 and 25, from 1:00 p.m. in the Smith Library.

One-act Modern Operas Offered by Workshop

Two one-act operas by contemporary composers will be the summer offering of the Brigham Young University Opera Workshop, according to an announcement by Dr. Don L. Earl, director.

Operas to be presented are "Riders to the Sea" by Ralph Vaughan-Williams, and "Sunday Excursion" by Alcester Wilbur.

Cast members for "Sunday Excursion" are Joyce Henriksen as Alice, Ruth Olsen as Veronica, Arthur S. Roberts as Hillary, James C. Johnson as Marvin, and Eugene Blinn as Tim, the candy butcher.

The opera is the story of a young of young people on a Sunday excursion train from New York to New Haven.

"Riders to the Sea" is a story of seafaring people on the Irish coast and the cast includes Margaret Dance and Maureen, Richard Robison as her son, Bartley, Barbara Benson and Colleen Lawrence as her daughters, Cathleen and Nora, Kate McGuire as a neighbor woman. There are also two women's choruses.

Planned for "Sunday Excursion" is Bill Dorris, and Janice Jacobs will be the accompanist for "Riders to the Sea." The operas are set for presentation July 14 and 15 in the Joseph Smith auditorium.

Jane Darwell Will Act Here

Jane Darwell, noted screen actress, will be guest actress on the Brigham Young University summer theatre season, according to Dr. Harold L. Hansen, speech and dramatic arts chairman.

Miss Darwell was most recently seen by campus movie fans in the lead role in "Grapes of Wrath," and the mother in "Brigham Young," both film classics. The actress has in the major summer production, the title of which will be announced later.

About Joseph Smith. The first summer production will be presented during Leadership Week in June. Martin Nalder's "In the Time of Harvest," a story concerning Joseph Smith, has been chosen for this presentation.

There will also be a special Theatre Workshop conducted during Leadership Week. Dr. Fred Glenhill will serve as chairman of the workshop.

In addition to the two plays, the department will also be in charge of the patriotic pageant to be presented on July 3 and 5.

Staff Members
Staff members for the summer theatre productions are Dr. Hansen, director; Dr. Glenhill, Theatre Workshop director; Kermit M. Shafer, designer; Robert E. Struthers, technical director; and June Moncur, directorial assistant.

LDS to Meet Tonight; Elect Summer Officers

All Lambda Delta Sigma members, former members, and transfer members from other campuses who will be in Provo for one or both terms of summer school are urged to attend a meeting tonight at 7:30 in room 250 of the Smith building. Gale McEachern, president, announced the full program of activities will be carried out during summer school.

Summer officers will be elected at tonight's meeting and the summer schedule of events will be planned.

School Heads Visit Campus; Seek Teachers

Regular inquiries and campus visits are being made by school superintendents from 16 states in search of teachers, according to Prof. Edgar M. Jensen, director of the Teacher Placement Bureau.

Visits to campus to interview graduating and graduate education students have been made by superintendents from 14 districts in California, three in Arizona, three in Nevada, one in Wyoming, four in Idaho, two in Oregon, one in Colorado, and 28 in Utah. In addition, superintendents in Montana and Washington have sent their lists of offerings to be posted on bulletin boards.

Any good education student can get a job unless he is too restrictive about the place he will work," Prof. Jensen said.

President Ernest L. Wilkinson said BYU is cognizant of the teacher shortage in Utah and all Utah superintendents are invited to take advantage of the school's placement service. He explained that while a large number of trained teachers leave the state, the proportion is smaller than the number of out-of-state students. About 35 per cent of the student body comes from outside Utah, but many of these students remain in Utah to teach.

Prof. Jensen said that all openings, regardless of origin, together with salaries and locations, are posted for all the prospective teachers to investigate. Also announcements of all visits of superintendents are listed so that interviews may be arranged.

Booklet Foretells Forensic Events

A program for coming forensic activities has been published and is ready for distribution to all forensic students, according to Charles Orr, forensic manager.

This booklet will be sent to all students interested in the forensic program for next year including the high school seniors who have shown an interest in the program.

Meets for fall quarter include forensic week, held on campus and open to all junior varsity students at the Rocky Mountain Forensic League tournament at Boulder, Colo. The Brigham Young University annual Junior College Invitational meet, and the Heber J. Grant Oratorical contest, which is open to all students on campus. The last meet of fall quarter is the Western Speech Association meet at Tucson, Ariz.

Anyone interested in forensic activities for next year should contact Dr. J. LaVar Bateman in the Speech Center, so that they might receive information this summer about the new debate question and the discussion topic. Meetings will be held next fall every Tuesday and Wednesday at 4:30 p.m.

NEW OFFICERS—Pictured above with out going president, Mrs. Jay J. Taylor are the newly elected officers of the Brigham Young University AFROTIC Officers' Wives Club. They

Campus AFROTIC Wives Elect New Officers

The Brigham Young University Air Force ROTC wives recently elected officers for the 1954-55 school year at an election dinner held in downtown Provo. The newly installed officers include, Mrs. Robert C. Brady, president; Mrs. Rulon D. Blake, vice president; Mrs. Harold L. Carter, secretary; and Mrs. Lowell E. Call, publicity chairman.

Outgoing officers are Mrs. Jay J. Taylor, president; Mrs. Charles R. Fish, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth J. Morman, secretary; and Mrs. Theodore Mitchell, publicity chairman.

Members whose husbands have received other assignments and who will be leaving the campus were also honored. Among these are Mrs. Samuel J. Skousen, who will join her husband in Montgomery, Ala., where he has been assigned to the Air Force ROTC headquarters, and Mrs. Paul Seiders, whose husband will receive his discharge from the service this year.

Two of the staff members have received assignments in the Far East Command, but their wives will remain in Provo until they return.

Pepsters Tabbed For Next Year

Cheerleaders and songleaders were recently chosen for the coming school year, announced Ralph Roswell, incumbent second vice president.

Marilyn Abell, Pat Quist and Marilyn Worsley, three coeds from California, were chosen as next year's songleaders. They will direct singing at all home football and basketball games. They will also lead singing at pep rallies and other similar school activities.

Chosen as one of the cheerleaders was Elaine Merrill, a coed from Moses Lake, Wash.

Next year two more songleaders and two more cheerleaders will be chosen. All students are invited to try out, Roswell stated.

D. Spainhower Ties for 2nd In NCAA Meet

Doug Spainhower, the pride of Payson, won five points for himself and Brigham Young track team last Saturday, as he tied for second place in the high jump at the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championships at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Spainhower cleared the bar at 6 feet, 4 1/2 inches, tying with three other contestants for the runner-up spot to Southern California's Ernie Shelton, who leaped 6'10 1/2". Shelton thrilled the crowd of 10,500 when he cleared the bar three times at 7 feet, 1/16 inch, only to knock it off with his trailing leg on the way down each time.

Troy Wins 18th Crown

Southern Cal. won its 18th NCAA title, amassing a total of 66 17/20 points. Runner-up Illinois scored 13 17/20. California finished third with 27 points.

The Trojans won only two first places in the meet—Shelton's stellar high jump effort and Jim Lea's 46 1/2 victory in the 440—but important seconds and thirds accounted for their prodigious point total.

Alex Burl, Colorado A&M sprinter, was the only other Skyline Conference athlete to score. Burl took a fifth in the 220 and a sixth in the 100.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Things are looking down in the world of sports, as far as greater Los Angeles, a metropolis of over four million people, is concerned. A 19 1/2 million dollar bond issue to provide for the building of a gigantic civic auditorium was turned down by Los Angeles voters at the election June 8. This auditorium was to have made the city available for big-time boxing, basketball, ice hockey, indoor track, and the like, as well as allowing the city to host conventions and other extravaganzas which require a large arena.

Primary opposition to the proposition was put up by the "Citizens Committee against higher taxes," a group organized and financed by the owner of the Pan-Pacific Auditorium, one of L.A.'s two inadequate indoor sports palaces.

This was the fourth time the proposition has been on the ballot, and each time it received an overwhelming majority of votes. However, a ridiculous city law requires a two-thirds majority for passage of a bill of this kind.

All-Star Battle

On the second Tuesday of July every year, stars of the American and National Leagues get together for the All-Star game. This year's classic will be played July 13 at Cleveland, with the American League and the Cleveland Indians acting as hosts.

This year, the Universe, in conjunction with The Sporting News, baseball newspaper of the world, will accept ballots and forward them to the national poll every week until it ends July 2.

Fans are asked to vote only for eight starters on each league's team, excluding the pitchers. Opposing managers Walter Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees are obliged to select one pitcher from each of his league's eight clubs.

Mail your ballots to the Universe Sports Dept., Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah; or bring them to the Universe office in the basement of the Clark Service Center.

Skyline Mentors Say No To Spring Hoop Practice

DENVER (AP)—The Skyline Conference has turned down a proposal for spring basketball practice and voted a revision in football contracts among member schools.

Basketball coaches had requested authorization for 20 days of spring practice within a 30-day period. Conference faculty representatives turned thumbs down at their annual meeting here.

Contract Revised

The football contract for member schools was revised for home teams 60 per cent of the receipts and visitors 40 per cent. The home teams have to pay all expenses for officials and stadium operation. Formerly the contracts were on a 50-50 basis with both teams sharing the expenses.

The conference gave its general approval to the NCAA basketball playoffs plan but suggested that Arizona should not be included in a three-way playoff with champions of the Skyline and Rocky Mountain conferences. Commissioner E. L. Romney said the conference felt that the winner of the playoffs between Rocky Mountain and Skyline champions should advance immediately to the final round.

Transfer Rule

The conference agreed to consider at its December meeting possible modification of the junior college transfer rule. At present a transfer must be a grade ate of a junior college to become immediately eligible for Skyline competition.

Some schools in the conference are reported to want junior college transfers whether graduates or not to be immediately eligible.

The faculty representative elected Dr. Earl Lory of Montana as their president for 1974-75. Dr. King Hendricks of Utah State was reelected secretary but while he is on a leave of absence, Dean David Himer of Utah will be acting secretary.

Health Center
